

Bank Mortgage Underwriting Policy Manual

Policy Section 1: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 2: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 3: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 4: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 5: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 6: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 7: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 8: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 9: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 10: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 11: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 12: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 13: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 14: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 15: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 16: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 17: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 18: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 19: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 20: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 21: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 22: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 23: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 24: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 25: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 26: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 27: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 28: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 29: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 30: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 31: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 32: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 33: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 34: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 35: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 36: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 37: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 38: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 39: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 40: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 41: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 42: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 43: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 44: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 45: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 46: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 47: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 48: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 49: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 50: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 51: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 52: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 53: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 54: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 55: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 56: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 57: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 58: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 59: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 60: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 61: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 62: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 63: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 64: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 65: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 66: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 67: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 68: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 69: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 70: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 71: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 72: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 73: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 74: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 75: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 76: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 77: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 78: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 79: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 80: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 81: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 82: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 83: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 84: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 85: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 86: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 87: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 88: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 89: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 90: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 91: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 92: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 93: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 94: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 95: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 96: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 97: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 98: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 99: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 100: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 101: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 102: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 103: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 104: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 105: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 106: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 107: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 108: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 109: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 110: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 111: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 112: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 113: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 114: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 115: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 116: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 117: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 118: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 119: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 120: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 121: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 122: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 123: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 124: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 125: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 126: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 127: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 128: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 129: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 130: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 131: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 132: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 133: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 134: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 135: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 136: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 137: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 138: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 139: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 140: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 141: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 142: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 143: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 144: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 145: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 146: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 147: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 148: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 149: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 150: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 151: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 152: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 153: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 154: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 155: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 156: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 157: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 158: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 159: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 160: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 161: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 162: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 163: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 164: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 165: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 166: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 167: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 168: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 169: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 170: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 171: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 172: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 173: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 174: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 175: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 176: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 177: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 178: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 179: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 180: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 181: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 182: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 183: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 184: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 185: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 186: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 187: Debt to Income Ratio Evaluation

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 188: Loan to Value Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 189: Income Verification Standards

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 190: Assets and Reserve Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 191: Property Eligibility and Appraisal Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 192: Fraud Prevention and Red Flags

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 193: Manual Underwriting Guidelines

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 194: Investor Overlays and Exceptions

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 195: Fair Lending Compliance

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 196: Quality Control and Post Close Review

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 197: Lending Philosophy and Responsible Lending

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 198: Loan Program Eligibility (Conventional, FHA, VA, USDA)

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 199: Borrower Identity and Residency Requirements

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.

Policy Section 200: Credit Score Requirements and Credit Analysis

This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review. This section outlines underwriting standards aligned with Fannie Mae Selling Guide principles. Underwriters must evaluate the borrower's ability to repay the loan based on verified income, assets, credit history, and collateral quality. Exceptions require compensating factors and management approval. Documentation must support the underwriting decision and be retained for regulatory audit review.